WINCHESTER:

Friday, - - - August 1, 1862.

G. H. BONEBRAKE, &
L. G. DYNES, Editors.Last Saturday in Winchester.

Last Saturday was an "enthusiastic day" in this place. By 9 o'clock in the morning a large number of people, from all parts of the county, were in town, and by 10 o'clock the Court-House was filled to overflowing with ladies and gentlemen who had assembled there to hear a war speech from Col. W. A. Bickle, of the 69th Regiment.

The Colonel had been speaking some time before we could get out to the meeting, but we heard enough of his speech to convince us, beyond a doubt, that he is an earnest, unconditional Union man.

This was the greatest rebellion that had ever been known, the Colonel remarked, and it must be speedily crushed, at whatever cost of blood and treasure. Ours was too good a Government to be given up without a struggle.

In this connection we must notice the West River Delegation, which came in about 9 o'clock, preceded by a band of soul-stirring martial music. In the delegation were eighteen volunteers, who were sworn into the service by Col. Bickle, at the court-house. The band above spoken of, have the thanks of the people for the excellent music furnished for the occasion. We hope they will come again.

In the evening several knock-downs took place, in which no one was much injured, but a couple of strangers were pretty badly frightened; so much so that they left our town very unceremoniously.

We had offered to compromise our difficulties with them; we had gone so far in our efforts to conciliate them as to bring humiliation upon ourselves,—they had spurned our offers with contempt and showed by every possible means that nothing but war would suit them, and war they should have, and enough. We must subjugate the rebels and populate their country with a new people.

He believed the policy of the Administration had been changed, and that henceforth the war was to be prosecuted in good earnest. This suited him,—he had been tired of the milk and water policy with which the rebels had been treated. We must make WAR upon them and conduct our fighting on war principles, or else all would be lost, and lost forever to the present and future generations.

He wanted to take the 69th into the country of the rebels, and when there he would not use them to protect the property of traitors, and instead of leaving his soldiers out to starve he would and have them to "eat, drink and be merry," and when they were done he would help them to lay the place in ashes.

We would be glad to give a more extended notice of this able speech, the more especially as it came from a man who was, previous to the war, a strong pro-slavery Democrat; but, as we took no notes at the time, we are unable to do so. The speech was well received, and we shouldn't be at all surprised if some of the Eighth-of-January-Democrats went from the meeting a great deal more loyal to the Government of the United States than when they came.

After the speech was concluded, the citizens organized a meeting and appointed Col. Thomas M. Browne President thereof, and Lieut. G. H. Bonebrake Secretary; when, on motion, it was unanimously resolved that the County Commissioners be petitioned to donate to each and every volunteer, belonging to this county, who shall enlist in the service of his country for the present war, the sum of $50;—after which the meeting adjourned.

TO ARMS! TO ARMS!

"Who will be a traitor know?
Who would fill a coward's grave?
Who so base as to be a slave?
Let him turn and flee."

Citizens of Randolph! you have done nobly in sending your volunteers to support and uphold the Government against those who are endeavoring to destroy it. Many citizens, in accordance with the late requisition upon this State, by Gov. Morton, have enrolled their names for the defense of the Government under which we have prospered as a nation, and one company has had the minimum required, for the purpose of going into camp. We refer to the company under the auspices of Lieut. G. H. Bonebrake and John K. Martin. Other companies are forming, and a goodly number have also volunteered to serve their country, in the hour that will try men's souls. Lieut. Wm. Burris is also actively engaged at Farmland in the good cause, and has, we understand, a goodly number of recruits.

Now's the day, and not's the hour;
See the front of battle lower;
and fall in, tumble in, or any other way to get into the service of your country.

W. E. J. Putman, Esq., returned from Corinth last Thursday night. He has promised us an account of his trip, which we will lay before our readers next week.

Correspondence.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The Times has the following:

You may rely upon it that a vigor never before known in the conduct of the war is henceforth to mark the policy of the Government. The organization is perfect and material abundant, and soldiers are pushed forward rapidly to their places in the field.

Ditch Digging Stopped in McClellan's Command—Contrabands for Sigel's Command.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Tribune has the following:

It is whispered that Gen. Halleck has sent all the spades in McClellan's army to the rear and has ordered muskets to the front. At all events there was no digging there for the first time for many weeks on the day after his visit to the Peninsula.

Steps are taking to bring loyal blacks by the hundred from the valley of the Shenandoah within the lines of Gen. Sigel's army corps. To what military purposes they are to be detailed is not known.

Exchange of Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—All the rebel prisoners in the old Capitol, about 250 in number, will be released to-morrow and transported to Fortress Monroe, for exchange. About an equal number of persons, including rebel prisoners and deserters and stragglers from our own army, have been brought to the city from various localities, principally from Fredericksburg.
